The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

PHARAOH HAD TOOTHACHE?

To German science belongs the credit of explaining what hitherto has been the inexplicable secret of the inconsistent conduct of Pharaoh—the Pharaoh of the Exodus. According to the Scriptural phrase, "the Lord (Pharaoh) hardened his heart," and then proceeded to indulge in conduct which was not merely inconsistent with his previous treatment of the Jews, but was surprising to a degree in a great monarch such as this King of the Egyptians undoubtedly must have been.

Despite the recent suggestion that Site II was the Pharaoh of Exodus, the preponderance of archaeological opinion is that Professor Flinders-Petrie sufficiently proved that it was Menephtah II whom Moses had to deal with. Now the mummified remains of Menephtah II repose in Cairo, and there they have been minutely examined by a German servant, who is able to state, as a result of his studies, that Menephtah II was about 60 years old when he died, in 1215 B. C; that he was 5 feet 8½ inches in stature, and that he was rather stout of build and bald save for a very few gray hairs.

Moreover, according to our German friend, Menephtah's teeth were full of cavities, in which the exposed nerves must have throbbed in such fashion as would throw their owner into fits of violent temper. As Shakespeare said long afterward, "There was never yet philospher that could endure the toothache patiently." Menephtah's blood vessels and ribs, furthermore, show unmistakable evidence of chalky degeneration—an undoubted sign of acute gout.

The profession of cruelty, fear, rage, repentance and despair in the Mosaic account is not incomprehensible in an autocrat suffering from gout and toothache.

CHURCH ON WHEELS.

The Catholic Church Extension Society of America, of whose board of governors Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago, is chairman, has lately put in the missionary field a chapel car, commonly called "The Church on Wheels." The car, which is named St. Anthony, cost $20,000 and was the gift of Mr. A. Petry, of New York, is furnished with an altar, a tabernacle, gilt crucifix and tall candlesticks, a chancel, organ, holy water font, stations of the cross and a confessional—in a word, everything that goes to make up a thoroughly equipped Roman Catholic church.

The object of St. Anthony's chapel car is to carry the gospel to the sparsely settled communities and outlying districts of civilization where there is no church and the missionary has seldom or never penetrated. The first occupants of the car on its initial trip were Bishop Hennessey, of Wichita; Rev. T. A. McKernan, C. G. Hennessey and the porter, who was also the cook. The railroads haul the car free, and its coming is always heralded in advance.

The chapel car has made several trips, since, and so great has been the success of its mission that it is rumored that two more chapel cars will soon follow in the wake of St. Anthony.

Cause of Stomach Troubles.

When a man has trouble with his stomach you may know that he is eating more than he should or of some article of food or drink not suited to his age or occupation, or that his bowels are habitually constipated. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to regulate the bowels and improve the digestion and see if the trouble does not disappear. Ask for a free sample. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently yet promptly on the bowels and allays inflammation at the same time. It is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

CONGREGATION ARRESTED.

The curfew law of Gainesville, Ga., which has been in abeyance for years, was enforced Saturday night against a congregation of the Holiness Sect, and 150 men and women were put under arrest.

The curfew law requires that all persons in Gainesville shall be at their homes, unless for cause, by 11 o'clock.

The Holiness Sect is strong there, and has been holding nightly meetings, which continued until far after midnight. These meetings have been characterized by the wildest display of feeling, "holy" dancing, "holy" rolling, shouting, healing, cries in unknown tongues, and the like.

The portion of the city where the meetings have been held grew weary of the nightly orgies and complained to the city authorities. Saturday night at 11 o'clock the Pentecostal Church was raided by the police and the entire congregation arrested.

The recorder was at the city hall and tried the people as soon as they were brought in. He imposed nominal fines on the leaders and warned the congregation that meetings must be closed promptly at 10 o'clock every night.

DECIDING that his court has jurisdiction and will inquire into the merits of claims of many liquor houses against the South Carolina Dispensary Board and continuing until Saturday next argument on the question of appointing a receiver for the $800,000 fund left by the late Dispensary and now in the hands of a State committee or the State, Judge Pritchard rendered an opinion in Asheville, N. C., on Saturday which lays down a broad principle. The opinion appears to decide that when a State engages in the whisky business or other business not necessary to preserve its autonomy or sovereignty, it waves its rights under the Eleventh amendment to the constitution of the United States not to be sued without its consent, and it is further decided that it would be unjust to permit the State under any circumstances to avoid the payment of debts contracted for goods on which it has made a profit. The decision will carry to the Supreme Court an issue which may serve to decide once and for all the rights of the States under the amendment.

DENOUNCING President Roosevelt as the tool of capital and a "coward who shot Spaniards in the back," William D. Haywood and two other socialist labor speakers, addressing an audience of 4,000 in the Grand Opera House in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon, expressed contempt for the law, the courts and the judges and defied the police to interfere with the meeting. In the same breath the speaker mentioned President Roosevelt and Harry Orchard, the self-confessed murderer of a score of persons, including ex-Governor Steunenberg, of Idaho; referred to Secretary Taft with derision; appealed to the prejudice of the poor against the rich, and advised the unemployed to steal if they wish to supply their wants. Such men are sowers of discord which will result in strife and anarchy if they are left alone. They should be arrested and jailed for an offence against the peace and dignity of any State in which they promulgate such doctrines.

IN ALL the money centers of the country come reports of bank deposits again up to or exceeding the normal before the panic. This being the case, the Secretary of the Treasury has made a further withdrawal of public funds from the depository banks to the amount of 25 per cent. of their holdings where the total is $100,000 or more, 10 per cent. payable on or before March 9 and the rest on March 23. Under this call about $35,000,000 will be returned.

RATHER than face the police board on the charge of being late in reporting with his squad for the third time Saturday, Patrolman McCluskey, of the southwestern district, Baltimore, killed himself in the dining room of his home yesterday evening by blowing his brains out with his police pistol. Great Scott! a policeman conscience stricken because of failure to do his duty! Will wonders never cease, and is this thing likely to extend to Alexandria?

OYSTER packers and planters of Norfolk and Portsmouth will petition the Virginia legislature not to pass the oyster bills now before that body. It seems to be a difficult matter to enact any legislation that meets with the approval of the oyster men. Their desires, seems to be allowed to do as they please.

WHILE railroads must employ thousands more telegraph operators to enforce the nine-hour law, they intend to close hundreds of small stations. The plan of forcing corporations to employ more men than they want seems to be a two edged weapon.

From Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 2.

Finance legislation in the House is fast approaching a comic opera performance with everybody seeking the middle of the stage and nobody having any lines to speak after he gets his position. The probable result of this situation is no legislation on finance at this session. Speaker Cannon and the House leaders are in favor of the Aldrich bill. The House committee on banking and currency has reported for passage the Fowler asset currency measure. The democrats of the committee have refused to support the financial bill introduced by John Sharp Williams. The republican members from the west are opposed to the Aldrich measure. The democrats are opposed to both the Aldrich and Fowler propositions. All the members of the banking committee, when they voted to report the Fowler bill, reserved the right to oppose any part of it or all of it on the floor of the House. With such a mixture of sentiment, it is hard to tell how any bill on currency can be gotten through the House.

The prospects for favorable action by the House judiciary committee on any of the pending bills for a new employers' liability act are exceedingly slim, according to the opinion of leading democratic members of the committee. One of the democrats of the committee said today: "The sentiment in the committee at this time is such that I do not believe an employers' liability bill will be reported to the House this session. This is not so much because the republicans are unalterably opposed to a bill of this kind, as it is because, in the light of the recent Supreme Court decision on the subject, they want more time than is now available for framing a bill that will meet the constitutional requirements"

Whatever else may come from the Reuterdahl article criticising features of American battleship construction, and however much the administration may have regretted the publication of his charges to the world, it is practically certain that the investigation now being conducted by the Senate naval committee as a consequence of those charges will recommend the introduction of improved ammunition hoists so as to safeguard the men in the handling rooms, and also a change in the location of the main armor belt so as to meet some objections which have been raised.

Mr. Hepburn's bill aimed at the stock gamblers will de introduced in the House this week. Mr. Hepburn called on the President this morning to talk with him about the provisions of the bill which will, if passed, tax every share of stock that is sold. Mr. Hepburn believes that if every stock transaction is taxed in this manner, the custom of fictitious deals will become a thing of the past.

Thomas Taggart, chairman of the democratic national committee, and Harry S. New, chairman of the republican national committee, are billed as headliners on the programme of speaker at the dinner of the Indiana Society of New York to be given at the Waldorf-Astoria on March 20. The invitations were sent out today. Among the other speakers announced are Booth Tarkington, David Graham Phillips and Finley Peter Dunne (Mr. Dooley,) Congressman Charles B. Landis, of Delphia, Ind., and John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute.

The administration is preparing to bring pressure upon President Castro, with the view of compelling him to do justice to American corporations and individuals who, it is claimed, have been deprived of their investments in Venezuela and whose property has been taken away in arbitary fashion. Just what plans have been mapped out, it has been impossible to ascertain so far, but the first step has already been taken. It is within the bounds of possibility that it may lead to armed coercion. Some time this week the State department will send to the Senate, in response to a resolution introduced by Senator Lodge, with the approval of the administration, a long statement setting forth the American causes of complaint against the Venezuelan government. This will be made a public document, as it is the desire of the administration to enlist the force of public opinion behind whatever action it is decided to take. It will show that Castro's government maintains its refusal to submit the claims of American citizens to arbitration, and that this refusal has been repeated the last few months.

Vigorous denunciation of the men who are trying to impeach Judge L. R. Wilfley, of St. Louis, judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of China, at Shanghai, is contained in a letter sent today by President Roosevelt to the House judiciary committee. Accompanying the letter is a report from Secretary of State Root to whom the original charges against Judge Wilfley were referred. The secretary found that the charges were utterly unwarranted. The motive for the charges, according to Secretary Root, was the fearless and successful manner in which Judge Wilfley cleared up a certain class of "undesirables" in the American colony of the Chinese city, who had been bringing reproach on the good name of this country. Instead of being dismissed from office, the secretary holds that the judge is entitled to commendation and high credit for the work he has done.

The Interstate Commerce Commission decided today by unanimous vote to deny all petitions for extension of time within which to comply with the so called hours of service law. The reasons will be stated in a report which is now in course of preparation, and will be announced within a few days. The law, which limits the work of train dispatchers and telegraph operators on railroads to nine hours a day will go into effect on Wednesday. The decision is in accordance with the commission's recent announcement that extensions of time would be granted only in particular cases, and for "good cause." It was stated that "good cause" was not shown when it was merely alleged by the railroads that the law ought not to be enforced or that the necessary number of additional operators could not be secured at the wages heretofore paid. In the hearings held last week, it was conclusively demonstrated by President Perham of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, that there was an ample number of experienced telegraph operators in the country not now employed, to supply the requirements of the law. The commission's decision means that between seven and eight thousand additional telegraphers will be given employment throughout the country. Since the strike, thousands of union telegraphers have been unable to secure employment. Strict enforcement of the nine hour law will mean positions for these men.

For the month there was a loss of over $5,000,000 on customs and $2,000,000 internal revenue receipts. For the same period expenditures increased over $8,000,000.

MURDEROUS NEGRO.

A woman and a man were shot and fatally injured and seven other persons were seriously wounded by Robert Faulker, a negro thief, supposed to be insane, who fired promiscuously into a crowd of 500 people on their way to church in Richmond last night.

Faulkner early last night broke into Tignor's gun shop, on east Franklin street, and stole a double barreled shot gun and a supply of ammunition. He left the shop just as the crowd of churchgoers were passing, and without warning, he began firing, keeping up a fusilade into the throng until sixteen shots had been fired, nearly every shot finding a human target.

The shrieks of the wounded and the sounds of the firing called six policemen hurriedly to the scene, where by this time nearly a thousand people had collected. The policemen found the negro slowly retreating, but holding the crowd at bay with his gun. They immediately opened fire on him and he fell with five bullets in his body, and with his leg broken.

In defiance of the demand of the mob that the negro be lynched, the policemen quickly hurried him to the police station from which he was transferred to a hospital.

Scarcely had this been accomplished before the station was surrounded by an angry mob bent upon lynching Faulkner, but when they found the police ready with riot guns and were assured that the negro was not in the station they dispersed. It is believed that all danger of lynching has passed.

KILLED BY AN AVALANCHE.

An avalanche descended yesterday near the village of Noppenstein, Switzerland. The enormous atmospheric pressure which accompanied demolished a hotel at the mouth of the Lockberg Tunnel Works, killing 13 persons and injuring 15 others. The occupants of the hotel, numbering 30, were surprised while seated at the table by sinister rumblings. Almost instantly two children rushed into the dining room and screamed "An avalanche, an avalanche!"

There was a rush to escape, but the building, which was of temporary nature, collapsed without warning. Both of the children were killed along with many of those they had sought to save. Among the others killed was an American engineer named Mervart, who was installing American machinery to be used for tunneling.

The hotel had been erected by the tunnel contractors for the convenience of the engineers and others engaged in construction work. There were no tourists there.

The village postoffice and police station also were seriously damaged by the air wave, and were keeled over to an angle of 45 degrees, making occupancy impossible. The tunnel works were not damaged.

The convicted man conversed jovially with his friends on the way up from Portsmouth and partook of a hearty meal with them. The Sheriff forbade intoxicating drinks. A penitentiary van met the train. The former cashier entered upon his imprisonment at midnight.

The Racing Bill.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Va., March 2.—In the House today Delegate Cox, of Richmond, moved to recommit the so-called racing bill against the passage of which Commonwealth Attorney Mackey, of Alexandria county, has protested. His motion, however, failed owing mainly to the small attendance of members. Senator Early, patron of the measure in the Senate, said the purposes of the bill had not been correctly stated by Mr. Mackey. The bill he said is endorsed by such men as R. J. Hancock & Son, of Charlottesville, and Henry Fairfax, of Loudoun.

Attacked by Assassins.

Chicago, Mar. 2.—Chief Shippy was stabbed in the right arm, his driver, James Foley, was shot and killed and one unknown man was killed by Chief Shippy when two men, believed to be members of the Black Hand, called at Shippy's house about 10 o'clock this morning and fired on George Shippy, the chief's son, when he answered the bell.

In the attack young Shippy was shot twice, and is not expected to live. He was removed to the Augustana Hospital. It was learned later that Foley, the driver, who was immediately carried to the same hospital, was not killed, but his wounds are expected to prove fatal.

As soon as the first shot was fired Foley rushed to the boy's assistance and received a bullet in the chest. The shooting attracted Chief Shippy, who was preparing to go to his office. As he rushed through the front door the anarchist slashed at him with a knife, inflicting two serious cuts on the right arm. Shippy immediately fired, killing his assailant.

The assassin, who was killed in the attack on the Shippy home at 31 Lincoln Place, has not been identified. He is swarthy and resembles and Italian. He is 24 years old, five feet six inches tall and was dressed as a laborer. Chief Shippy shot him five times.

A the hospital it was declared young Shippy has a bare chance of recovery. He received two bullets in the chest. Later in the day Chief Shippy gave instruction for a general round up of all suspected anarchists, black hand members and other suspicious characters. They will be given the choice of standing trial as suspicious characters or leaving the city immediately.

Movements of the Fleet.

Callao, Peru, Mar. 2.—Officers and men from the American torpedo boat flotilla are enjoying themselves here and at Lima quite as much as did those of the battleship fleet, now on its way to Magadelna Bay.

By steaming into port yesterday, three days ahead of their schedule, however, they caught the Peruvians somewhat off their guard, and the hurried advancement of the programme of entertainments planned for them has resulted in some confusion.

The craft are all in such excellent condition that there is little work to be done, and shore leaves will be easily to get between now and March 9, when the flotilla is due to follow the battleships.

Weather conditions during the entire voyage from Telcahuano to Callao were ideal.

Unless they are spoken by passing ships, it is not expected that anything will be heard from the battleship fleet until it reaches Magadalena Bay, as it will touch no port and will pass no wireless stations in the course of its voyage to the target grounds.

Funeral of Murdered Priest.

Paterson, N. J., Mar. 2.—Thousands followed the hearse today which bore the body of Rev. Father Leo Henrich, the priest slain by an anarchist at the altar rail of his church in Denver, from the Church of St. Bonaventura to the cemetery of the Holy Saints. Such was the throng that 3,000 could not force an entrance to the church at all, but waited in the drenching rain outside. Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, and fifty priests of the diocese, aided in the service in the church. The dead priest in the plain garb of his order, sandaled and rope-girdled, lay in front of the high altar while his former parishoners passed in procession before his bier for a last look at his face.

Woman Afire in Church.

Salem, Mass., Mar. 2.—A big hat worn by Miss Nellie Tapper, a singer in the choir of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, came in contract with a gas jet at the evening service last night and went up in a blaze. Miss Tapper ran shrieking down the steps and through the church. The rest of her clothing caught fire, and she seemed like a flaming torch. As she passed the sexton at the door he tore off her waist, and wrapped her in his overcoat. The people were panic stricken, and ran screaming in all directions. The blazing waist set fire to the woodwork, and the firemen had to be called out to extinguish the blaze. Little damage was done to the church, but Miss Tapper may die.

Investigation Begun.

Berne, Switzerland, Mar. 2.—An investigation has been begun to determine responsibility for the frail construction of the hotel which collapsed yesterday under atmospheric pressure accompanying an avalanche at the mouth of the Loaschen tunnel, killing thirteen persons and injuring fifteen of those who were buried in the ruins. While it is true that atmospheric pressure frequently causes as great damage as the avalanche itself, it is pointed out that the postoffice and police station nearby, though tumbled from their foundation, held together, permitting their occupants to escape.

Petition Denied.

Chicago, Mar. 2.—Judge Ball in the Superior Court this morning denied the petition of Henry W. Leman, attorney for the Fish interests in the fight for the control of the Illinois Central Railroad, for an injunction restraining the Union Pacific from voting 281,000 shares of the Illinois Central stock held by that corporation at the Illinois Central election today. There is now no legal impediment to the election which is scheduled to start at noon.

Mr. John Sharp Williams obtained unanimous consent for consideration of a resolution from the committee on rules that the immigration committee be requested to investigate and report to the House the conditions of living and work among immigrants in the lumber and railway camps and cotton plantations of Mississippi, Florida and other southern States.

He said accusations of peonage among immigrants in the States mentioned had been used, he was informed, to divert immigration from the south.

Mr. Bennett, a member of the committee on immigration said, the investigation would be conducted in a thorough and impartial manner.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 160 to 35.

The resolution gave opportunity to Southern members to score the government.

Mr. Clark, of Florida, said that instead of looking after the law business of the government, Attorney General Bonaparte took upon himself the task of regulating the social conditions of the country. To assist him, Mr. Clark said, this descendant of French nobility called to his aid a person previously in the slums of New York, Mary Quackenbos. In charge of the work the Attorney General placed Assistant Attorney General Russell, who, Clark claimed had placed words in his (Clark's) mouth.

"The rules of this House prevent me from describing this man as he deserved to be and as I would were it proper," exclaimed he. "Suffice it to say it would be a calamity for any community to have Mary Quackenbos and Judge Russel sent to it, either singly or together."

The seven terrorists, including two young girls, convicted by court-martial of complicity in a plot to assassinate Grand Duke Nicholaievitch and the Russian minister of justice, were hanged in St. Petersburg yesterday.

"Moses Before Pharaoh" was the subject of Rev. J. R. Sevier's sermon in the Second Presbyterian Church last night. Children's services were held in the Second Presbyterian Church at 8:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

ORDERED TO COMPLY WITH LAW.

The Secretary of War has notified the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company that it has not laid its tracks on the Washington approach to the Highway bridge across the Potomac in compliance with law, and that unless the company complies with the law legal steps will be taken for the removal of its tracks on Potomac Park. The matter was brought to the attention of the War Department by Maj. Cosby, the engineer officer in charge of the Potomac river improvement, which includes the new Highway bridge. The company will be given thirty days in which to comply with the law. Meanwhile, through the efforts of the railway company, a bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives giving the company authority to continue the operation of its cars across the bridge and its approaches in accordance with the present system.

CASES CONTINUED.

The crew of the Southern Railway engine and the crew of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway train which collided Thursday night at Cameron and Henry streets were to have been arraigned in the Police Court this morning.

The defendants in the case are Conductors L. H. Beahm, Motorman C. H. Robey, and Trolleyman Norman Dove of the electric railway. The engine of the Southern Railway was in charge of Engineer John Harrington and Fireman Connors. At the request of counsel for the railway men, the trial of the case was postponed until Thureday next at 3 p. m.

The case of Frank Parker, charged with receiving stolen goods, was continued until tomorrow morning. He gave security in the sum of $500 for his appearance and was released.

Church South. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. P. Davis, Frank Davis, Horace Bradley, Haywood Davis, Charles Reid and Daniel Ludloe, all of Fairfax. In addition to many relatives and friends from Prince William and Fairfax a large number from this city accompanied the remains to their last resting place.

Ball and formerly lived in this city where she had a host of friends who will deeply regret to learn of her death. She was a woman of many Christian virtues and endeared herself to all with whom she was associated. The funeral took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Richmond. The pallbearers were Mr. W. M. Addison, Mr. John H. Lyons, Colonel John W. Gordon, Mr. Henry C. Richey, Mr. I. McK. Judkins, Mr. Hamilton Baskerville, Dr. Garnett Nelson and Mr. R. G. Reynolds.

BRIDGE ON FIRE.

The wooden bridge on the Washington and Ohio branch of the Southern Railway, near the Old Dominion Glass Company, caught fire Saturday night and was partially burned. The Columbia hose wagon went to the scene, and with a plug stream subdued the fire. An oil tank car filled with oil, which was nearby, was removed from the vicinity of the burning bridge by an engine.

Mrs. Elizabeth Javins, widow of Harrison Javins, died Saturday, at her home, 1117 Duke street. Mrs. Javins had reached an advanced age. The deceased is survived by several children.

HOSPITAL REPORT.

The thirty-sixth annual report of the treasurer, managers, superintendent and auxiliary societies of the Alexandria Hospital for the year ending January 31, 1908, has been submitted. The receipts from all sources for the year were $8,828, and the expenditures $7,428 31, leaving a balance of $1,399.69 to which has since been added $200. There has been no change in the medical staff during the year. The manager's report says in March one of the workmen at the glass works was injured and taken to the hospital. The company were so much pleased with the care taken of the patient that they manifested their appreciation of the attention by sending a donation to the institution of $149. Mr. Colvin, superintendent of the Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon Railway again showed his interest in the hospital by generously giving to it the proceeds from the gate receipts on Alexandria day at Luna Park, amounting to $200. We here renew our thanks to these friends of the institution, for their liberal contributions. Beside these very acceptable donations, we gratefully record the liberal legacy of $1,000 by the late Mr. Lambert. A number of improvements have been made in the building during the year. Among the acknowledgments are the following: St. Paul's Church, $204.05; Christ Church, $135.38; M. E. Church South, $20; Trinity M. E. Church, $14; Presbyterian Church, $28.62; Baptist Church, $14.18; Grace Church, $150. Miscellaneous $204.93.

Do not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

He Had the Most—Perhaps.

A comic actor who had been engaged to entertain a family party proposed at the conclusion of the performance a little game of his own. Each of the company, himself included, was to stake half a crown, and the pool would be taken by the person who possessed the most of the articles which he (the comedian) would inquire for. On his assurance that he would take no mean advantage, but run the same risk as the rest, all the members of the party consented, and between £3 and £4 was soon laid on the table. The actor added his piece to the pool, with a cunning smile, and then said:

"Now, which of you ladies and gentlemen happen to have the greatest number of false teeth?"

Deathlike silence reigned for about a minute, then a burst of laughter, both hearty and in some cases forced.

"I have three," continued the actor. "Who has got more?"

The comedian took the pool.—London Tit-Bits.

Senator Bate's Authority.

The late Senator William B. Bate of Tennessee was a major general in the Confederate army and never quite reconciled himself to the defeat of the south. Soon after he came to the senate he formulated a set of rules which he called "Rules for my proper legislative guidance." Whenever a proposition came up about which he was undecided he would take the printed slip containing these rules from his pocket and study it carefully.

"Bate," said a colleague one day, "what is that slip of paper to which you refer so frequently?"

"That," said Senator Bate, "is a little reminder of my belief on constitutional questions."

"Where did you get it? Think it out yourself?"

"No, suh," replied Bate, with much dignity; "I found most of those immortal truths in the constitution of the Confederate States of America."—Saturday Evening Post.

"Orchestra" and "Noise."

In Shakespeare's time no musical dictionary could have distinguished between "orchestra" and "band," for the simple reason that neither word was then English in a musical sense. "Orchestra" did not arrive before the eighteenth century and even "band" not until the latter half of the seventeenth, when Charles II. had a "band of violins," in imitation probably of Louis XIV.'s "bande." The old English word for a band of music was "noise." "See if thou canst find out Sneak's noise. Mistress Tearsheet would fain hear some music," says one drawer to the other at the Boar's Head tavern. And just so Ben Jonson has "a noise of fiddlers" and "a noise of trumpets." The old word is wanted for many a gathering of musicians outside this writer's flat.—London Chronicle.

Writing on a Train.

"No matter how fast and rough the pace," said a brakeman, "you can write with perfect ease and comfort on a train if you hold a cushion on your lap. You rest your tablet and your arm on the cushion, and somehow or other neither jolt nor jar disturbs you. The soft cushion nullifies every tremor. Your writing is as legible as if it had been done at your desk at home. We railroaders have a good many accounts to make up while traveling, and hence we usually have a cushion handy. Drummers and other experienced travelers are great hands to borrow our cushions from us when they have a little correspondence to attend to."

"Talesman" In English Law.

A talesman, according to English law, is a juror summoned to fill a gap, and formerly, at any rate, this was often done by taking any suitable person who was present in court. "Tales de circumstantibus" ("such of the bystanders") were the first words of the order directing this process. Good Pickwickians may remember that, as only ten special jurymen were present on a memorable occasion, Mr. Serjeant Buzfuz "prayed a tales," whereupon two of the common jurymen, one of whom was the unfortunate chemist, were pressed into the service.—London Standard.

The Very Worst.

Douglas Jerrold was seriously disappointed with a certain book written by one of his friends. This friend heard, that Jerrold had expressed his disappointment and questioned him. "I hear you said —— was the worst book I ever wrote."

"No, I didn't," came the answer. "I said it was the worst book anybody ever wrote."

Where It Snows In Summer.

Snow, it appears, only falls in the antarctic in summer and on those rare occasions at other seasons when the wind blows almost due south, and, strange to say, these south winds are warm winds, raising the temperature to 50 or 60 degrees F. They seem akin to the snow melting Foehn winds of the Alps.

Fully Posted.

"Could you do the landlord in 'The Lady of Lyons?'" asked the manager of a seedy actor.

"Well, I should think I might. I have done a good many landlords."

The Man With the Wooden Hat.

A young Scotsman was shown into the office of a great engineer at Birmingham. He was wearing a hat of extraordinary shape, and at his nervousness at meeting the man of fame he let the hat slip. It fell with a hollow thud upon the floor. The engineer looked with astonishment at the thing. The owner picked it up and apologized for the noise it had caused. It was of wood, he explained. He had made it himself, turning it with his father's lathe. The engineer thought that there must be something in a man who could think out and make such a thing as this. He forthwith engaged him, kept an eye upon him and gave him work of responsibility. The engineer was Boulton; the new man, William Murdock. The man with the wooden hat was sent away to Cornwall, and when he returned it was to light up his master's premises with gas. The mind which first practically applied the coal gas to the purpose of lighting lived inside that wooden hat.—St. James' Gazette.

Good Manners.

A friend of yours and mine has very justly defined good breeding to be "the result of much good sense, some good nature and a little self denial for the sake of others, and with a view to obtain the same indulgence from them." Taking this for granted—as I think it cannot be disputed—it is astonishing to me that anybody who has good sense and good nature can essentially fail in good breeding. As to the modes of it, indeed, they vary according to persons, places and circumstances and are only to be acquired by observation and experience, but the substance of it is everywhere and eternally the same. Good manners are to particular societies what good morals are to society in general—their cement and security. And as laws are enacted to enforce good morals or at least to prevent the ill effects of bad ones, so there are certain rules of civility, universally implied and received, to enforce good manners and punish bad ones.—Chesterfield.

Made For Fat Men.

One of the narrow arches in the gallery of the chapel at Columbia university is not exactly symmetrical, although the defect is not noticeable to the casual observer. The reason for the widening of the arch after its original construction had rise in a somewhat humorous occurrence. One of the early visitors was a remarkably fat man, who found himself wedged into the arch when he tried to squeeze through and was extricated with some difficulty. The builders, recognizing the possibility of other fat people being numbered among the future visitors, decided to widen the arch, sacrificing symmetry and harmony to practical need, as the pier was so constructed as to bear no loss of width on one of its sides.—New York Globe.

Caribou Horns.

Not one out of every ten female caribou has horns. When they do have them, they are much smaller than those of the bull. The horns of the female have, however, in general many more branches than those of the bull, and they are much more regularly and finely formed. The cows carry their horns much longer than the bulls. They have been seen with their horns in the month of April. The old bulls shed their horns from the 10th to the last of November. They hardly ever carry them after the month of November. The young bulls shed theirs from the first of December until the middle of February. The younger the animal the longer he retains his horns.

Mountain of the Sacred Footprint.

Adam's peak, or Mount Samanala, a rugged mountain in the island of Ceylon, is known throughout the orient as the "Mountain of the Sacred Footprint." In a flat, rocky basin at the foot of this mountain is stone as hard as blue granite there is the perfect imprint of a gigantic human foot, five and one-half feet long by two and one-half feet wide. The Ceylonese Brahmans have a legend to the effect that the imprint was made by Adam, our first parent, but the Buddhists declare that it could have been made by no one but Buddha.

Water Needles.

So penetrating is water at high pressure that only special qualities of cast iron will be tight against it. In the early days of the hydraulic jack it was no uncommon thing to see the water issuing like a fine needle through the metal, and the water needle would penetrate the unwary finger just as readily as a steel one.

Cash or Credit.

Women should not get credit. Neither should men. Cash is the cure. Tradesmen maybe would have a bad time for six or twelve months, and many a lady would have to "lie low," but in the end we would get both our trade and our money, and she would get her dress and at far less cost.—London Opinion.

The Vice Presidency.

"It's sthrange about th' vice prisidincy," said Mr. Dooley. "Th' prisidincy is th' highest office in th' gift iv th' people. Th' vice prisidincy is th' nex' highest an' th' lowest. It isn't a crime exactly. Ye can't be sint to jail f'r it, but it's a kind iv a disgrace."—"Dissertations by Mr. Dooley."

His Hope For Revenge.

Judge (to barber sentenced to death)—If you have a last request, the court will be glad to grant it. Barber—I should like to shave the prosecuting attorney.—Munich Jugend.

How to Stop a Nose Bleed.

When the bellboy responded to the signal he found the elderly traveling man standing in the center of the room holding a handkerchief to his nose, from which the blood was oozing.

"Give me a slap alongside of the head, good and hard," said the elderly man, turning his face toward the boy and speaking with difficulty.

"But, sir, I"—

"Don't stop to talk," sputtered the traveling man. "Slap me, I tell you," again holding his head forward. The boy hesitated for a moment, then timidly slapped the man's face. "Harder!" commanded the smitten one. The boy hesitated no longer, but with his open palm dealt the man a vigorous blow.

"That's better," grunted the gory one as he removed the handkerchief and after a test found the bleeding had stopped. "I'm subject to these attacks of nose bleed," he explained to the astonished youth, handing him a tip. "I have tried all sorts of remedies, but nothing acts more promptly than a blow alongside the head. The shock seems to paralyze the ruptured blood vessels, and they quit work at once. Try it some time if you have the occasion. I got the idea from an old physician in Mexico."—New York Press.

Could See For Himself.

Clarence Foster ("Pop"), the old ball player, was always busy sewing in his spare moments in the clubhouse. Foster was a handsome fellow and took pride in keeping himself looking neat and natty as far as his attire went, and he was as particular as an old maid regarding his clothes, so was kept busy doing the tailor act with the needle and thread. One August "Pop" was taken ill and was ailing for some few days. The fact of his illness got into the public press and so became common talk among the players. A few days after the announcement was made that Foster was ill the St. Louis aggregation blew into the Washington grounds. The first day Foster was discovered sitting in front of the clubhouse, busy at his everlasting sewing.

"Hello, Pop!" shouted Catcher Joe Sugden. "I heard you were sick, but how are you now?"

"Well, Joe," carelessly responded Foster as he paused a moment in his tailor stunt, "I have been sick, but just at present, as you can see for yourself, I happen to be on the mend."—Washington Star.

No Come Back.

Some of the West Indian islanders have learned that when a foreigner misbehaves on their shores it is better to suffer in silence than to mete out punishment at the risk of a descending gunboat from the miscreant's native land. A judge in Haiti, however, recently took occasion to pay off old scores and to redeem his self respect in the case of an offender brought before him.

To his first question as to the nationality of the accused the interpreter had answered that the prisoner was from Switzerland.

"Switzerland!" said the judge. "And Switzerland has no seacoast, has it?"

"No seacoast, your honor," replied the interpreter.

"And no navy," continued the judge.

"And no navy, your honor," was the reply.

"Very well, then," said the judge, "give him one year at hard labor."—Brooklyn Life.

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest remedy contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases yield to treatment in a short time.
